Dear Ms. Dortch:

Chairman Wheeler invited Shervin Pishevar to a roundtable meeting to discuss the importance of an open Internet. Because Mr. Pishevar regrettably had to decline, I sent the attached email. I am submitting it into the record as an ex parte communication.

Sincerely,
Caroline Talley

Subject: Schedule Change - FCC Event

Dear Ms. Sohn,

Thank you so much for inviting Shervin Pishevar to meet with the Chairman. We are grateful that the Chairman has come to the Valley to hear directly from those in the tech community, many of whom have criticized the Chairman's proposal to authorize fast lanes and slow lanes on the Internet. The open Internet is extremely important to SherpaVentures--and to the entire tech community and people around the world. Because of our interest, we tried to rearrange Shervin's schedule--and that of his partner Tina Sharkey as well--to make time to meet with the Chairman. With the changes of time and long-standing commitments that we simply cannot move, however, neither Shervin nor Tina can attend.

Their inability to attend should not be seen as ungratefulness for the Chairman's willingness to speak directly with technology investors and entrepreneurs--nor suggest that we are not deeply committed to ensuring an open Internet for today's entrepreneurs and tomorrow's. We thank you for the invitation and urge you to reverse course and ensure nondiscriminatory access to one Internet. If there are any other visits in the near future, please don't hesitate to reach out.

All the best,

Caroline Talley
